Burial in Lot Mr. Carnegie Purchased at Sleepy Hollow, N. Y., Some Years Ago.

LEAVES HALF A BILLION

Philanthropist's Wealth as Great as It Ever Was Despite His Large Benefactions; Main Body of Fortune Never Touched, Is the Belief.

By Associated Press.
LENNY, Mass., Aug. 12.—Andrew Carnegie, who died here Monday morning from bronchial pneumonia after a short illness, will be buried at Sleepy Hollow, N. Y., Thursday morning in a lot he purchased some years ago. Services will be held at Shadow Brook, country home of the deceased magnate, at 11 o'clock by Rev. Benson N. Wyman, pastor of the Lenox Congregational church, where Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie had a pew, and Rev. Dr. William Pierson Merrill, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York. The body will then be taken on a special train to Sleepy Hollow.

CARNEGIE'S FORTUNE IS PLACED NEAR HALF BILLION

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The wealth of Andrew Carnegie, steel magnate and philanthropist, who died Monday at his summer home in Lenox, Mass., is estimated at $500,000,000. When he retired in 1901, he sold his securities of the Carnegie Steel company to the United States Steel corporation for $303,450,000 in bonds of that company, besides stock in the company. He was possessed of large interests in addition to those bonds.

When he started in 1891 to give his fortune away, he made investments in gifts to libraries, for peace propaganda and to other philanthropic causes. The main body of his fortune, however, is believed to have been left intact and in recent years to have increased by the accumulation of interest until, according to estimates today it may approximate half a billion dollars. The fortune of $303,450,000 in five percent bonds, if allowed to increase by the accumulation of interest and reinvestment since 1901, would amount to about a billion dollars today, but his numerous benefactions prevented this. According to financial authorities, however, the iron master's ambition to die poor was not realized, and despite the scale of his philanthropies, it was believed that this fortune was at his death as large as it ever was.

Seven Pay Fines.

But one of the octet arrested in the raid last week on a Baldwin avenue house run by a negro, Will Rogers, remains at city hall. He is Tom Smith. He is sick and will probably be released today. Trice Jackson, negro, produced $15 yesterday and was given her freedom. This contribution brought the total from the seven paying fines to $183.50.

DEMobilIZATION TO BE COMPLETED
BY END OF OCTOBER

Many Men Will Be Kept Abroad to Guard United States Property and Stores.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Demobilization of the Army, "so far as combat troops are concerned," will be hastened, according to today's military news. Many of the men now in the Army, it was explained, will be retained to care for large stores of equipment remaining on hand.

Mr. Baker announced some time ago that the Army would be reduced to peace-time strength provided in the national defense act by September 30. At that time, however, there still will remain in the Army numbers of men enlisted for the emergency. These will be released as rapidly as they can be replaced by volunteers.

TRAINS COLLIDE

Passenger and Freight on B. & O. Come Together; Engineer Hurt.

By Associated Press.
WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 12.—Baltimore & Ohio passenger train No. 71 leaving here this morning at 6:50 collided head-on with a freight one mile west of Friedly, Tyler county. Engineer McConnell of the passenger train was severely injured and taken to the hospital at Sistersville. Both engines were badly damaged and traffic was temporarily blocked.

Health Officer George Hetzel is authority for the statement that the following is absolutely correct. Growing on a vine at the home of Louis Cuneo in Queen street are beans the pods of which are 36 inches long. The seed came from Japan, it is said. The pods are edible. Mr. Hetzel said he measured to avoid guessing.

PROBLEMS OF HIGH COST OF LIVING ARE ENGROSSING CONGRESS

Attorney General Continues Negotiations With State and Municipal Agents.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Problems of the high cost of living continued today to absorb chief attention of Congress and government authorities. While Congress went ahead with consideration of various bills and suggestions for legislation relative thereto, Attorney General Palmer continued negotiations with representatives of his department and state, city and county agents throughout the country for cooperation to bring about lower prices for the necessities of life.

DEMANDS CHANGE IN U. S. WHEAT STANDARDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Demands that changes be made in government wheat standards under the price guarantee act so as not to penalize every grower of wheat were made in a statement prepared by Chairman Gronna and representatives of farm organizations and approved today by the Senate Agriculture committee.

Chairman Gronna announced that a committee would be named to present the demands to Julius H. Barnes, president of the United States Grain corporation, and representatives of the Department of Agriculture in the hope of having modified various government regulations by which it was charged "the producers are defrauded and the consumers receive no benefit."

PROFITERS MULET EYES STATE PENITENTIARIES

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 12.—Profiters have not overlooked a single item that is purchased by this institution. Whether it be carpet tacks, flour or clothing, their mark is apparent. "This was the statement today of Warden Leonard of the Maryland penitentiary. "The high cost of living is being felt here as much as it is in private homes," continued the warden, "although all supplies are bought in large quantities and the utmost discretion is used in making purchases."

BRITAIN PASSES BILL AGAINST PROFITEERING

LONDON, Monday, Aug. 12.—The House of Commons, after hearing Sir Auckland Geddes, minister for national service and reconstruction, declare profiteering in foodstuffs was responsible for social unrest and discontent passed tonight an act reading the government bill providing for prosecution and penalties for persons guilty of profiteering.

The bill was supported on second reading by the Labor party and the vote on passage was 51 to 8.

Solicitor Higbee Declares Route Should Be From Here to Somerset.

The next move in project for the improvement of the Springfield pike to Normalville, on the Connellsville to Farmington road, is up to the State Highway Department. Already the city has expressed by resolution its readiness to pave the remainder of Snyder street, to the city line, as soon as the state is ready to begin the improvement of the mountain road. A resolution to this effect was adopted by council last spring and sent to Harrisburg. It was recalled at a meeting of council last evening. The attitude of the city was further emphasized by a delegation of citizens of the Snydertown community to urge the improvement, including the severing of the street, which they insisted must be done before the paving is undertaken.

Snydertown has no sewer system. Its people believe it is high time it should have this sanitary convenience. The cost at this time may enter largely into the case. After considerable discussion it was agreed among members of council that City Engineer S. M. Poust should make a study of the situation, determine the route of the main and make an estimate of the cost in readiness for the next meeting.

The council cannot follow Snyder street owing to the elevation between the dip at the blacksmith shop and the junction of the street with Fairview avenue. It will be necessary to carry the line down the ravine. The nearest point of connection is at the foot of Hill street, it was said. Whether the main could follow streets this distance or must traverse private property is to be determined by the engineer.

It was agreed by council, following a policy established some years ago and required by ordinance, that before the paving is done the street must be sewered in order that excavating later may be avoided.

Speaking in behalf of the members of the Snydertown delegation, numbering about 15, George B. Freed told of a visit to Harrisburg and conference with State Highway Commissioner Lewis S. Sadler relative to the Connellsville to Farmington road in which Mr. Sadler told him, Mr. Freed said, that the city must improve the end of Snyder street, connecting with the mountain road, and then come to the state for the other project. All are favorable to the improvement, Mr. Freed said. All were of the belief also that the city should follow the adopted policy of bearing the cost of a sewer from general taxation rather than assessing the cost against the people of that community.

The Connellsville to Farmington project is a mistake, in the opinion of City Solicitor E. C. Higbee. "There is no more sense for reason to the Connellsville to Farmington road than to build a road along the banks of the river," he said. What is needed, the solicitor contended, is a direct road to Somerset. The road to Farmington would not go through a dozen good farms, the solicitor contended. "A good road should go through some place to some place," said he. Further, he asserted, once the state has constructed a road and it is found to be wrongly located, it will be difficult to get another out of state funds.

S. E. Dull, advocate of improvement of the Springfield pike to Normalville, urged that there be no controversy that might endanger the project. What the people here should devote themselves to, he said, is getting the road started. After the route is completed to Normalville let the state decide then whether the route shall be by way of Indian Head to Somerset or by way of Obiopolis and Farmington to the National pike, is his solution. The latter would open a direct route from Connellsville to Washington and intermediate points.

TO SIGN AGREEMENT

Missing Section of Fire House Specifications Found at City Hall.

Remodeling of city hall for a central fire station probably will be started within a few days. Council last evening authorized Purchasing Agent R. W. Hoover to sign the contract with the Connellsville Construction company. First the agreement and specifications will be scanned by Assistant City Solicitor J. Kirk Renner.

At a former meeting, the specifications were ordered returned to the contractor with instructions to include the plumbing. It was then found that the plumbing had been covered but the section had become detached and lost at city hall. It was found. Wiring has now been provided for.

DEPUTY RAIDS A MOONSHINE STILL;
SHOT DEAD IN BED

Three Men Whose Plant He Had Dismantled Suspected of the Murder.

By Associated Press.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 12.—Will Farley, a deputy state prohibition officer, was shot and instantly killed late last night while in bed at his home on Hart's creek, the shooting being done by alleged moonshiners, according to information received at noon by W. H. Hallman, the state prohibition commissioner. Farley's wife occupied the bed with him but was not injured.

The attack on the prohibition officer followed a raid which he and Deputy G. S. Johnson, conducted in the evening on Hoover creek in which they seized a still, dismantled it and took the still to their home. There were three men in the attack and Farley was shot three times.

Johnson, who was in another room at the Farley home, opened fire on the outlaws but they got away. A posse was organized in the vicinity of the shooting early today and pursuit was started toward the Kentucky border, in which direction it was believed the men had fled.

The men were said to have been recognized by Mrs. Farley as Joe Martin, Tom Mullin and Charles Spray, the three men having been suspected of operating the still which had been seized by Farley and Johnson. The state prohibition commissioner has offered a reward of $100 for the capture of each of the three men and has notified the Kentucky border officers to be on the lookout for them.

Farley had been in the employ of the state prohibition department about a month, having been employed because of his knowledge, through his residence there, of the conditions existing on Hart's creek, said to be one of the worst moonshine centers of the state. He formerly was a deputy sheriff in Logan county.

Four officers, Farley, Johnson, M. E. Ketchum and S. M. Adkins, were in the raiding party that was formed early yesterday evening and the four were together until about 10 o'clock when Ketchum and Adkins went in the direction of Chapmansville and Farley and Johnson to Hoover creek. Ketchum and Adkins seized a still near Chapmansville and spent the night at the place.

The three men broke in the door at Farley's home and it is presumed, when Farley raised up in bed, fired simultaneously at him, each bullet taking effect. The officer fell back in bed dead. The men fled, followed by bullets from Johnson's gun.

LIQUOR DEALERS HAVE TO

COUNTY PROPERTY VALUED
AT $104,145,815; SHOWS GAIN
OF $18,623,099 OVER 1916

Tax Duplicates Now in Hands of Collectors Will Return $624,874.

Property valuation in Fayette county at the present time is placed at $104,145,815, according to figures on the last triennial assessment at the office of the county commissioners in Uniontown. This compares with $85,513,709 in 1916, or a gain of $18,623,099.

Tax duplicates based on the assessment of property now in the hands of the tax collectors will return a total of $624,874.84 to the county for the current year. The levy is fixed at six mills.

The returns for 1916 were $325,325.39, showing an increase over that year of $29,549.45.

Instead of decreasing the number of horses as increasing, the assessors' figures show. In 1916 there were 10,299 horses. This year the number is 10,724, a gain of 425.

During the three-year period the population has increased approximately 20,000. In 1916 the number of taxables, or heads of families, was placed at 41,554 and in 1919 at 41,432. On the basis of an average of five to a family this would place the population at this time at 222,160.

Cleared land is placed at 382,920 acres and timber land at 140,145 acres. Real estate alone is valued at $103,683,232 which when compared with the real estate valuation of 1916 shows an increase in valuation of $9,510,907. Of the real estate owned, $100,006,932 is taxable while real estate valued at $3,612,300 is exempt from taxation.

Property valuations in Uniontown are a third more than Connellsville. The report credits property in Uniontown.

COPS' CASE SETTLED

Proposed Hearing in Round-Hetzel Mixup is Called Off.

The difference between Patrolmen Tony Rendine and Henry Hetzel, arising over a question of authority relative to the clearing of a blockaded street a recent evening, did not come to a hearing before council last night. The officers decided to settle the case "out of court." They shook hands, at a conference with the acting mayor, and were reinstated.

Both went on duty today. Hetzel is working the morning shift, in the absence of Patrolman P. M. Rullu who started on a 10-day vacation. Rendine goes on in the afternoon. Lieutenant Thomas McDonald, who was off on a vacation, returned to duty today.

TWO SEEK DIVORCE

Cruel Treatment Charged by Connellsville Woman Against Hubby.

In a libel in divorce filed in Uniontown this morning, Rose Farrah of Connellsville seeks to be freed from Harry Farrah whom she charges with cruel and barbarous treatment. They were married at Cumberland October 20, 1918, and had since resided in Connellsville.

William C. Roderick of Mount Sterling, in his libel, charges Ada F. Roderick with cruel treatment. They were married in June, 1911, in Uniontown, and had resided at Mount Sterling, Lambert and Whitney.

KINGAN NOT VICTIM

Absent Dunbar Young Man Found to Be Employed at Revere.

With the location last evening of Oils Kingan of Dunbar, whose mother, Mrs. Julia Kingan thought he might be the victim whose charred body was found last week in a coke oven at Leith, the county officers were again at sea as far as solving what they believe to be a murder.

Kingan, on hearing that his mother was worried over his absence from home, telephoned her from Revere, where he is employed.

MRS. CHARLES G. BAIRD

Mrs. Charles G. Baird was defined in the will of her husband, Major Baird, Four Hundred and Thirtieth signal corps battalion, as a "perfect wife." In the words of the deceased major she is the "acme of perfection" and the "truest, most honorable and loving wife in the world." Major Baird, who was with the A. E. F., recently died of leish of the heart.

SCORE OF PASSENGERS IN DANGER WHEN BULL
CHARGES TROLLEY CAR

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Aug. 12. A score of persons narrowly escaped death or serious injury when a bull escaped from a field, charged a Harmony route interurban car at Echart stop between Elwood City and Zelienople late yesterday, derailing the car which was brought to a stop on the edge of a 60-foot embankment. The bull was killed. All of the passengers escaped injury.

OVER $100,000 IN TAXES PAID IN CITY
DURING MONTH OF JULY

City Duplicate More Than Two-Thirds Settled, Collector's Figures Show.

Over a hundred thousand dollars in taxes—city, school and county—was paid into the office of Collectors E. R. Floto and Fred Rohrer in the Young Trust building during the month of July, according to figures given out this afternoon by Collector Rehner. Collections were:

City $ 60,623.36
School 29,384.59
County 13,255.28

Total $103,263.24
The rush to pay city taxes was due to the expiration of the one per cent discount period, August 1. The duplicate for the school taxes is $88,022.10. Over two-thirds of the city duplicate was settled.

There is no discount on the school tax, hence the comparatively smaller total payment, the duplicate being $129,451.08. Less than half the county tax was paid. The face of the duplicate is $30,952.52.

BIG CROWD AT OUTING

Over 2,500 Took in West Penn Employees' Picnic at Oakford.

Approximately 2,500 persons are attending the first day of the annual outing of the employees of the West Penn Railways company and their families and friends at Oakford park. Connellsville is well represented, as is the surrounding region. All the cars to the park were crowded with happy picnicers. Large delegations from Dunbar, Uniontown, Leisenering and Vanderbilt attended.

The second day of the outing will be Thursday at which time the office force will lay off for a day. Some of the officials are at the park today, but most of them were at their work.

A work car carried a part of the good things for the day—27 freezers of ice cream, each said to contain 10 gallons.

Shoe Theft Alleged.

L. Roy Baker and Harvey A. Heller, both of Cumberland, harkened on the Connellsville division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, were arrested Saturday afternoon in Cumberland, charged with theft of 19 pairs shoes from Baltimore & Ohio freight cars. The men were committed to jail to await a hearing.

21 Trolley Cars Burn.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 12.—Twenty-one trolley cars were destroyed in a fire here today that swept the barn of the Public Service Railway company. The total loss will reach $300,000.

COMPLETION OF PAVING ON ARCH STREET ORDERED

Contractor Duggan Must Finish Job or Contract Will Be Considered Void.

COULD COLLECT ON BOND

Council Might Forfeit Deposit Made By Him to Insure Satisfactory Completion of Job, But This is Not Considered Likely; Street is Bad.

In response to an urgent demand that South Arch street bill, which is impassable, be put in condition for travel city council last night took steps to have Contractor Malachi Duggan proceed with the work under the terms of the contract or have it declared void. At the suggestion of City Solicitor E. C. Higbee, notice to this effect will be served on Mr. Duggan.

The contract for the paving of Arch street was let in 1916 in three sections, the first extending from Church place to Green street, the second from Green street to Trump run, the third from Trump run to the city line. For some reason work was started on the middle section. This and a small part of the third section were completed. Since then no work has been done.

Delays for which he was not responsible and advancing costs since the contract was awarded are claimed by the contractor as reasons for non-completion of the work, it was stated in council. The city is protected by bond, if it goes it to enforce the provisions of the contract, but in view of the intervention of the war it was considered likely the proper step would be to have the contract revoked and the work re-let.

Recent rains have gouged out the bill section of the street until it is worse than a mountain road and is declared to be impassable. Further action is expected at the next meeting of council, Monday night. Provision has been made for the financing of the improvement of Robbin street and Madison avenue. Attorney P. E. Younk, who has been active in pushing these projects, reported that short term bonds to the amount of $7,000 for Robbin street and $5,000 for Madison avenue have been subscribed. Mr. Younk presented a check for $1,200 or 10 per cent of the cost of the improvements.

The contracts for the two streets have been let and the work on Madison avenue was begun this morning by Contractor Malachi Duggan. The grading of Robbin street will be begun soon.

Council last night authorized the purchasing agent to advertise for bids for 145,000 bricks for the two streets. The plans for the paving of Davidson avenue and Chestnut street are progressing. An amendment to the ordinance for Davidson avenue, providing for issuance of short term bonds will probably be introduced next Monday night. There will be no trouble selling the bonds, council was informed.

ORDER FOR CAR OF FOOD MAY BE SENT TO CAPITAL TUESDAY

Cooperation of Acting Mayor Hoover Secured in Movement to Cut H. C. L.

After a consultation with Acting Mayor R. W. Hoover last evening Antonio Bufano announced that he and the acting mayor will tomorrow place an order for a car of government food for distribution in Connellsville.

The list of goods was to be made up today or tomorrow morning, Mr. Bufano said. No arrangements have yet been made for distribution.

There is talk also of getting a car of sugar.

MARKET PRICES CUT

Tomatoes Sell at Three Pounds for Quarter; Potatoes Down.

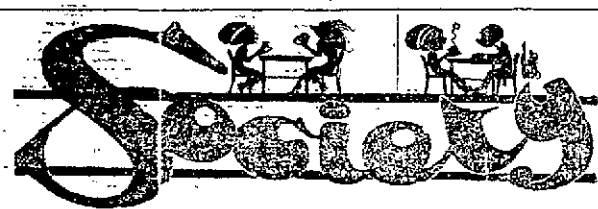

Some prices were cut lower than heretofore at the curb market this morning. Tomatoes sold at the rate of three pounds for a quarter. Potatoes were down to 75 cents a peck. There was a large turnout of buyers. About a score of farmers and truckers were on hand.

A crate of eggs found ready sale at 55 cents a dozen. There was a big demand for cucumbers but the supply was short. Corn sold at 25 cents a dozen, the usual price, with the exception of one here and there who offered his stock at 22 cents.

SHORT ENLISTMENTS
In the Navy Attracting Many Young Men to the Service.

The adoption of short term enlistments in the Navy has greatly stimulated additions to the personnel of the service. The experience of the department has been that young Americans, after a few months' training, were able to take their places along side veterans, so rapidly did they acquire sea habits and familiarity with their duties.

In order to attract still more of the type of young men who have been an honor to the service the period of enlistment has been shortened to two years. In this period every advantage is offered to men to strive for advancement. Under existing laws the appointment of 136 enlisted men to the naval academy is provided for each year. Young men who enter the Navy with the ambition to become officers will be furnished assistance in the way of preparation without cost to them. Those who desire to make the service their life's work will find many opportunities for promotion.

Full information respecting enlistments under the amended regulations can be obtained from Chief Musician Eiston, in charge of the local recruiting station in the federal building.

TRIAL LIST HEAVY

Three Hundred Fifteen Cases Ready in Uniontown; End Not Near.

Three hundred fifteen cases have been listed for the September term of common pleas court in Uniontown which opens Monday, September 22, but this does not represent anything like the total on the docket, according to Prothonotary George M. Rathmell.

In preparing the trial list the filing time of the various cases was observed with the result that only a portion of the suits listed for 1918 are listed for trial. The cases filed in 1919 have not been touched. The cases to be tried in the coming term were filed during the period of from 1913 to 1918.

Commencing the first Monday in September the Fayette county courts will be in continuous session until Christmas. Quarter sessions court for September will require three weeks which will be allowed immediately by the nine weeks' term of civil court closing the last week of November.

Commencing the first week in December will be the regular term of criminal court which will extend for two or three weeks depending upon the number of cases returned by aldermen and justices of the peace.

"Y" WORKERS ORGANIZE
Service Plans and Certificates for 19,000 Members.

Service pins and certificates are being issued by the Y. M. C. A. to some 19,000 men and women who served the association at home or overseas during the war. There is also the prospect that these workers will form a permanent, national organization whose ratification will take place at the annual convention of the International Committee in October.

The pins are of two designs, that for workers who have served overseas bearing a narrow, gold colored bar. The certificates are signed by William Sloan, chairman of the National War Work Council, and Dr. John R. Mott, General Secretary, with the recipient's name and the period of his or her service. The names are submitted to a committee at the National Headquarters in New York and there passed upon. Three months' employment by the "Y" in any capacity, or a total of 800 hours, work for the organization are necessary qualifications for a certificate.

The plan for the formation of the war workers' veterans association is finding wide approval, and applications are coming in rapidly.

TENNIS TOURNEY
City Cracks Will Meet For Local Championship.

The Conneltsville Tennis Association will hold a tournament among its members on the South Side courts, from Wednesday until Saturday evenings. Entries closed yesterday with 14 listed in the singles and eight teams in the doubles. The elimination matches on Thursday and Friday evenings will lead up to the finals on Saturday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. The evening playing will begin at 8:30 sharp.

So much interest has been manifested among the members that the tournament is bound to be a success. Prizes to be awarded to winners in the singles and doubles heighten the interest. An invitation has been extended to the public to witness the games.

It is possible that a bigger tournament will be held in the near future, perhaps one for the county championship.

Tennis is unusually popular this year. The association courts are full every evening and the game is true of Keagy's and other private courts.

HOME-COMING CELEBRATION.
To Be Held in Honor of Fayette City Service Men.

A home-coming celebration for service men in Fayette City and vicinity is to be held shortly. A temporary organization with Guy W. Brown as chairman, has been organized to work out the details of the affair. The committee in charge consists of:

E. D. Stannan, Robert Williams, Patrick Fox, E. D. Shelton, J. W. Howes, Joseph Hetherington, J. N. Ploghardt, Samuel Winslip, David Rosenberg, John Krüper, F. O. Dewar and Charles Evans.

BITRO-PHOSPHATE BEST THING FOR THIN PEOPLE

Women Need It to Bring Pink Glow of Health to Pale Complexions and Forestall Cell-Tissue Lines of Age. Often Need It to Make Strong, Vigorous Bodies and Steady Nerves.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness which are due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by the Conneltsville Drug Co., and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increases in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.—Adv.

EAGLES' CORN ROAST.
Ears as Long as the Building, Member Says Will Be Served.

The Eagles will hold a big corn roast at their Crawford avenue home tonight. Some of the finest corn procurable will be served and there will be other good things to eat. Special emphasis is put on the fine corn, however. "You can say that the ears are pretty nearly as long as the building," J. W. "Buddy" Mitchell said over the phone to a Courier man. "They're so sweet, the kernels melt in your mouth and as for tenderness, a man without teeth could eat them," which surely are signs of good corn.

An unusually large turnout of members is expected, consequently a big supply of corn has been laid in.

PRODUCER GAS PLANT
To Replace Natural Supply at Brownsville (Glass Plant).

The Monongahela plant of the American Window Glass company at Brownsville Junction is preparing to install a gas producing plant as a means to replace the natural supply upon which the plant has been dependent.

The installation will cost approximately $100,000. When in operation upwards of 100 tons of coal will be consumed per day in the manufacture of gas.

Requests were made in the will of $1,422.25 to Sarah Stricker and $156.41 each to Martha R. Shaffer and Harry B. Stricker. These will be granted, provided protests are filed with the court.

LOTS OF RATS

Edward J. Horner Doesn't Think Much of Gievers, France.

Mrs. Rose Horner of Bellevue has received a letter from her son, Edward J. Horner, of Prisoner of War Escort Company No. 71, telling of his transfer to Gievers, France, where the camp is 20 miles long and seven miles wide. It is one of the dirtiest he has been in, he declares. If the soldiers do not feed the rats while they are eating, he states, the rodents take the food out of their hands. German prisoners have their hands full killing them, one having dispatched 50 in 12 1/2 minutes, the letter declares.

Horner says he is in the best of health but does not expect to get home until September.

OLD-TIME DRUMMER

M. M. Cochran Shows Dawson Folks He Hasn't Forgotten How.

Appearance at the Dawson celebration Saturday of the Perryopolis drum corps brought to the mind of M. M. Cochran of Uniontown, who presided at the speaking, that he once was a drummer, back in the days of the old Tyone band. Unsurprisingly a snare drum from one of the Perry players, Mr. Cochran proceeded to demonstrate that he has not forgotten the use of the sticks.

Members of the drum corps included: Ira Blair, leader; Chang Chalfant, Emanuel Baker, Samuel Boddy, B. S. Hall, Snowden Brewer, R. L. Lynch, Daniel Essington, Russell Blair, E. O. Blair, Van Lynch and John Armstrong.

Their 110 Per Cent War Record Made Possible By Faithful Collie

Two Sons Enter Army, Mother and Dog Work for Red Cross and Father Goes Overseas for "Y."

A 110 per cent American family! That is, if a fine patriotic American collie is worth 10 per cent, and most Americans will acknowledge he is.

This is the proud record of the family of Louis Goldsmith Jones, a newspaper and publication man, who served for the last eight months with the Y. M. C. A. in France. Father, mother, two boys and the collie all enlisted in America's fight—and not one of them was required to do so.

The two sons of the family, then aged eighteen and nineteen, enlisted in 1917, and are still serving in the army. Mrs. Jones next enlisted in the Red Cross, and last summer Mr. Jones joined with the "Y" as a but secretary and went to France.

This was too much for a real American dog, who was already aching for action. Upon him had fallen the responsibility of guarding the home with the three men away, and only his presence permitted them to go. But he took more than that upon his silken shoulders, and volunteered to carry his mistress's packages to and from the Red Cross each morning and night.

Mr. Jones, while abroad, had the honor of working entirely among heroes. Immediately upon his arrival in Paris he was ordered to Beau Desert near Bordeaux, where the largest convalescent camp in the world had been planned and was in the first stages of building. He put up tents here and started his Y. M. C. A. activities while work was being carried forward on his hut.

The men at this camp were all soldiers who had seen action, had been wounded, and were now convalescing to go back into the fight. They were a long faced lot when the "Y" man arrived among them, and when he first started games, about the most strenuous they could cope with was croquet. Picking horsehoos and quots came next, then some tennis, and some football kicking, but very little actual ball playing. Those of the men who were well enough helped with the building of the army barracks, and it was a common sight to see a man walking with a cane and carrying a load of boards on his shoulder.

Mr. Jones was assisted in the athletic work at different times by Russel Starkey, Al Orth and Fred Huls, all Y. M. C. A. athletic directors.

Mr. Jones has worked on the editorial staffs of the Kansas City Journal, the Chicago Herald, and the Curtis Publishing Company, and has been the Northeastern Representative of the Pictorial Review.

Appreciation of the Brilliant American Advertising Man.

There is no more enthusiastic or successful advertising man throughout the U. S. A. than William H. Rankin, the president of the William H. Rankin company, and chairman of the Newspaper Division of the American Association of Advertising Agents.

The advertising organization that bears his name is one of the biggest in America; it has offices in Washington, Chicago and New York, and handles some of the biggest advertising campaigns. The personality of its president permeates the organization. William Rankin's war record is one of which he may be justly proud.

For the American War Department his organization wrote and illustrated the Liberty Loan News and the Smiley Advertiser, two newspapers published to promote propaganda for the raising of Liberty Loans.

The Liberty Loan News was an eight-page newspaper which outlined an advertising campaign for the great loan and attracted considerable attention.

The Smiley Advertiser was a twelve-page newspaper which was sent out to 25,000 newspapers through out America, and so effectively was it prepared that in a few days thousands of telegrams and correspondence were pouring in, asking for mats and plates to be sold to local advertisers to support the Smiley campaign, the object of which was to provide entertainment for the troops.

Among other valuable war activities with which Mr. Rankin was connected was the American Red Cross campaign, the success of which was nothing short of phenomenal. The energy that he put into every one of his war activities to the U. S. was characteristic of his unflagging enthusiasm. He worked tirelessly in the raising of war necessities all through the past four years.—Higham's Magazine, London.

Dawson.

DAWSON, Aug. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hasson of Connelville, visited at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. Theresa Grasinger, over Sunday.

Mrs. Margaret Langhrey of Connelville, visited her sister, Mrs. James Smith yesterday.

Miss Evelyn Morehead of Homer City, is the guest of Miss Edna Nicolson.

Mrs. Edgar Hicks of Pittsburg, spent over Sunday at the home of her friend, Miss Nettie Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Rushton were recent Pittsburg callers.

James Ohler, who has been undergoing treatment in a government hospital in Baltimore, has returned home.

Alex Evans of Los Angeles, Cal., is visiting his mother in East Liberty. Alexander was a former Pittsburg & Lake Erie brakeman in the Dickinson Run yards before going west 18 years ago. He is now an engineer in the Western state.

Mike Pryce of Connelville, attended the celebration here Saturday.

GOING STRONG

Leisenring May Take on Pittsburg Pirates After While.

On Tuesday, August 12, Leisenring expects to add another victory to its string when the team meets Hostetler, at Leisenring. Hostetler is said to have one of the strongest cock towns out in Westmoreland county. Wednesday evening Smoek will cross bats with Leisenring, at Leisenring, for the second time. A good game is anticipated, the game at Smoek being a pitching duel ending in favor of Leisenring, 2-0. After the game a festival and dance will be held at the Frick auditorium. The committee in charge assure all who attend a good time.

This week's schedule will close on Friday evening when Standard will be met for the first time this season. With these and a few more victories Leisenring will have defeated the strongest teams of the coke region, including Trotter, Monarch, Continental, Smoek, Bue, Phillips and Junhta. If Leisenring continues to play its present brand of ball the management is looking forward to a possible arrangement for a game with the Pittsburg Pirates near the close of the season. Leisenring will be put through much practice for this event.

H. C. L. IN COURT

Woman's Petition Says $10 Weekly Won't Keep Family.

The first case of the effects of the high cost of living coming before the Fayette county court in Uniontown was presented yesterday in the form of a petition by Mrs. Beatrice Louden of Mount Braddock to have the allowance from her husband for the support of herself and children increased from $40 to $50 per month.

The wife claims that under present high costs it is impossible to make ends meet on $10 a week.

WIN SERVICE DIPLOMAS

Local Merchants Have Interesting Experience in New York.

E. W. Horner and E. J. Horner of the Horner company, have returned from New York where they had the novel experience of father and son attending school together in the same class, taking the same course and each winning a diploma with a percentage of 95 in the examination.

The course is an adaptation of the Flattsburg plan of intensive training which was evolved by the government during the war, and was given in the Flitt Astor by a clothing manufacturing concern.

An important feature was a style demonstration with practical instruction in fitting various types of men. A better understanding was had of what slim men, stout men, men of light and men of dark complexion should wear. Not the least interesting of the features were demonstration sales, in which one took the part of the salesman and the other a customer, the other students acting as a jury.

E. J. Horner has resumed his place in the business since the disbanding of the 110th Regiment Band with which he was identified during all the regiment's service in France.

Absolutely Veracious.
"Mayne says she's twenty-five. Do you believe that?"

"Of course I do, for to my certain knowledge she was that ten years ago."

The Reason.
"Why did Maude want to go into the garden, ma?"
"Maybe it was because she thought she would find Sweet William there."

Simple Budget System.
"Every young wife should have a budget system to govern her expenditures."

"I know. I have one. I pay what I can and owe the rest."

The Difference.
"I'm glad I'm not Mrs. Brown's husband. He's always in a pickle."

"I wish I were Mrs. Robinson's husband. He looks so well preserved."

CHINA NOT LAND OF HUSTLE

Traveler in That Country Must Possess a Generous Amount of Patience and Tact.

Sooner or later, writes E. H. Wilson in "A Naturalist in Western China," the traveler in China must dispense with the comforts and luxuries of modern occidental methods of travel and adapt himself to those more primitive and decidedly less comfortable of the oriental.

In the regions with which we have to deal there is nothing in the nature of wheeled vehicles in use only the rude wheelbarrows in use on the Chengtu plain. There are no mule caravans, and scarcely a riding pony to be found. For overland travel there is the native sedan-chair and one's own legs, for river travel the native boat.

Patience, tact and abundance of time are necessary and the would-be traveler lacking any of these essentials should seek lands where less primitive methods obtain. Endowed with the virtues mentioned, and having unlimited time at his disposal, he may travel anywhere and everywhere in China in safety, with considerable pleasure and abundant profit in knowledge. With her industrious tolling millions, her old civilization, her enormous natural wealth and wondrous scenery, China alternately charms and fascinates, irritates and plunges into despair, all who journey long within her borders.

EAGER TO SEE ELEPHANT

First One That Was Brought to the United States Aroused the Utmost Curiosity.

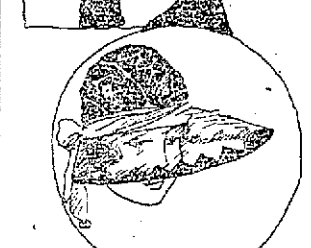

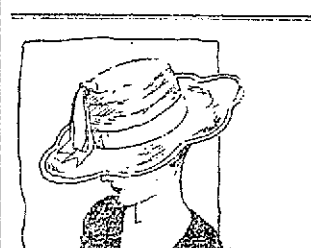

Nowadays, when summer in the United States would hardly seem itself without the coming of a circus, it is difficult to realize the excitement aroused by the first exhibition of an elephant. A now-forgotten showman, Hackallah Bailey, is said to have imported the first elephant nearly a hundred years ago, and the animal was a white show in himself. The circus had not yet come into being, and the elephant was shown in barns in the Eastern states that then held the bulk of the population. To prevent the public from seeing the show without charge, the elephant traveled from place to place in the night; but even so, the public refused to be wholly convinced, and small companies gathering with benches ready to light when the strange creature came lumbering past on his way to the next town. Sometimes, however, the management defeated this intention by sending along the road a horse built up to look like an elephant in the dark, and when the bonfire had been lighted and had burned out, the real elephant followed.—Christian Monitor.

EVERYBODY IS GUNNING FOR MR. BEAR AT HECLA

State Police Called Upon to Get Bruin Who Has Terrorized That Section.

BERRY PICKER IS ATTACKED

John Minkosky's Can of Fruit Rudely
Knocked Out of His Hand by the Animal; Pigs and Chickens Are Killed at Nearby Farmhouses.

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Aug. 12.—Captain Wilson C. Price, of Greensburg, and state police have within the last 72 hours had their horizon widened to include the capture or the killing of a bear. Bruin has taken residence in a big thicket under which the Veteran Coke company mined the coal near Hecla, and in addition to terrorizing the berry pickers feasts on Samuel Steele's and other farmers' shoots and poultry in Mount Pleasant township.

One hundred or more deep fissures where the surface has caved in give the bear easy entrance into the worked out mine, where he is safe from state policemen's unerring aim or from the guns in the hands of hunters on Bruin's trail.

They say it is possible to travel underground from Latrobe to Uniontown, so Mr. Bear gets by wandering around in mine passages he may come out in Mount Pleasant, Scottdale or Connelville. Who knows?

Saturday morning John Minkosky, one of a party of Hecla berry pickers, almost stepped onto the big black bear eating his feast in the dense thicket. Bruin resented the intrusion and rising on his hind legs challenged the berry pickers to a bout. With a Jack Dempsey swing Bruin knocked Minkosky's pail of berries from his hand. Minkosky's companions believed their pal had been the victim of a snake.

The scared berry pickers beat a hasty retreat out of the thicket where his calls brought his colleagues. Minkosky, badly scared and almost breathless, explained that he had been attacked by a big animal as big as a cow that growled like a dog and boxed like a prize fighter. At though just to corroborate Minkosky, Bruin appeared on the edge of the thicket and gave one sharp growl at the pickers, who beat a hasty retreat for Hecla, making the mile in record breaking time.

Bruin then leisurely slipped to the Steele barnyard, picked up a young porker and decamped with the squealing pig. Mr. Steele telephoned the state police for aid and a detail of the crack shots in the troop responded carrying mountain guns and carbines. But sly Bruin, protected by the dense 50-acre thicket and its subterranean caverns accessible through more than a hundred openings, remained in hiding. In fact, much of the terrain is of so dangerous a nature as to forbid a thorough exploration.

Edward S. Brinker and Harry F. Thomas, two of Greensburg's experienced bear hunters, were early arrivals at the thicket looking for Bruin but they failed to get a glimpse of the bear.

Fearing that Bruin might do some promiscuous "hugging" if afforded the opportunity, a dozen young men in that section of the country failed to keep their engagements Saturday and Sunday nights with their bet girls. "Bear hugging" when executed by an energetic Bruin is not anticipated with great elation by the young men over in the Hecla sector.

The big thicket in which the bear is located is four miles from the ridge and 15 miles from the Laurel Hill mountains. No bears or other "big game" have been seen in that section of the country for a century. But Bruin's predatory incursions among the farmers' pigs and poultry are sure to result in its being very soon.

Hearing Postponed.

The hearing to have been given Stephen Kublak before Justice L. B. Rhodes last evening charged with selling liquor in a house on Howard street, was postponed until Thursday evening. This hearing was set for last Friday evening, was postponed until Monday and now has been put off again.

No Word About Sugar.

Nothing has been heard yet from the car of sugar that Mount Pleasant has ordered from the War Department to be distributed among the residents of the town.

Gives Governor Cane.

Hon. J. B. Coldsmit is in receipt of a letter from Governor Sprout thanking him for a cane carved by John Fox of near Mount Pleasant that he presented to Governor Sprout. The cane was in the shape of a closed umbrella and had the words "Keep Us Dry" carved on it. It is a wonderful piece of carved wood.

Red Cross Shipment.

The last shipment of refugee garments has been made from the Mount Pleasant chapter of Red Cross and the following report has been made by Mrs. M. W. Horner, in charge of this work: In the box for last shipment were 217 dresses, 265 petticoats, 198 chemises, 4 layettes, composed of 140 pieces, 100 towels, 30 girls' nightgowns, 25 women's nightgowns, 6 ambulance robes, 27 comforters, a box of 191 sewing-bags, and 15 sewing books for the French women, including scissors, thread, buttons, etc. Money for the above bags was furnished by the children of the public schools, making six boxes in all.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE MAN WHO WON"—A Viagraph production, starring Harry Moray, the well known player, is being shown today. Mr. Moray is given an excellent opportunity to show his versatility. We see him first as a rough seafaring man besting five Malays single handed on the coast of Oregon. Next he is seen in wild delirium aboard a yacht guarding a treasure he has brought across the sea. The story deals with the great need of platinum during the war and the ends employed by both sides to secure it. While the war is suggested in the story, the element of war is eliminated. The treatment of the plot is skillfully handled, and the result is a beautiful story. "The Man Who Won" will please those who enjoy a story filled with suspense, mystery and adventure, with a clever love story interwoven. The wild life on the mountains of Oregon, a touch of seafaring combined with society life in San Francisco, furnishes a background for the story. Betty Blythe as Barbara LeMoine strengthens the play and adds color to Mr. Moray's acting. Maurice Costello as Henry Longfield is a heavy of a new type. A selected comedy is also being shown. Wednesday Harry Carey will be seen in "The Outcast of Poker Flats."

THE SOISSON.

"DESTINY"—Telling a dramatic story of the results of overweening ambition, with Dorothy Phillips, the charming screen actress, in a splendid role, is today's feature attraction. "Destiny" has an intensely dramatic theme. It deals with the conflict between a sister, played by Miss Phillips, and her brother, played by William Stowell, in which the latter's lust for power brings ruin to himself and others. Hamilton is a fighter and his younger brother, Paul, a dreamer. The former tells of his ambition to go out into the world and win fame, power and riches. Paul is timid. Mary sides with the latter and advises against giving up the farm. But the plunge is made. The picture then deals with the maturity of the young Burtons. Hamilton has become a power in finance. Mary is a member of the household. Paul is a satellite. Hamilton and Mary clash, for despite her kindness, the girl has a streak of stubborn independence in her makeup. Hamilton however, continues his relentless way, carrying the picture on to a smashing climax. Then as in several recent stage plays, the alternative story is told. Hamilton really listened to his sister's advice and remained on the farm with quite different consequences. The cast is a noteworthy one, including William Stowell, Harry Hilliard, Stanhope Wheatcroft, and others. A selected comedy is also being shown. Wednesday and Thursday Mildred Harris will be presented in "When a Girl Loves."

LACKING—MONEY

"I have doctor'd nine years for stomach and liver trouble and spent thousands of dollars, but instead of becoming cured of these ailments, my bloating and pains and attacks became worse. I was persuaded a year ago to take Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and have never suffered since taking the first dose. I wish I had the money back I spent for other medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and always the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. A. A. Clarke and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

Stomach is Quick to Upset When School Children Are Idle

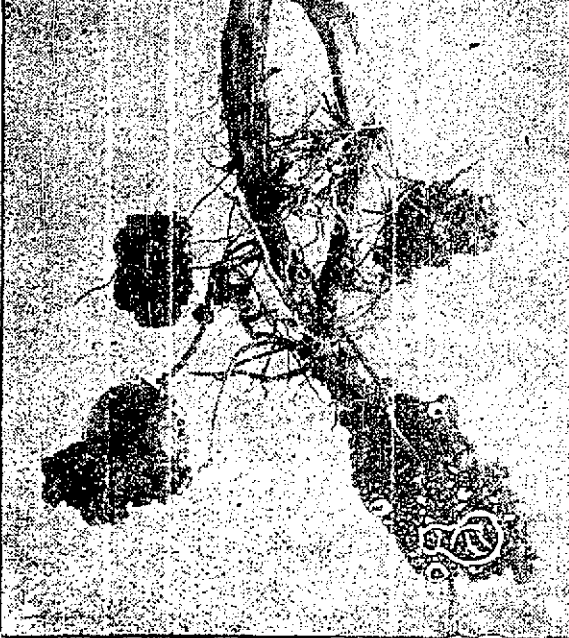

VACATION days are days of over-eating and under-exercising for most boys and girls. They loiter around nibbling at light food, unconcerned whether the fruit is green or ripe.

The result is cramps, skin eruptions, pimples, "summer colds," constipation and diarrhea. The basis of such trouble is an upset stomach, and nothing will give safer and quicker relief than the well-known Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is just a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, a formula evolved some 30 years ago by Dr. Caldwell himself. Syrup Pepsin is now used by millions of people and is today the largest-selling liquid laxative in the world.

It is the mildest and gentlest of laxatives. It regulates the stomach and bowels so well that they can soon work normally again without the aid of medicine. And unlike the harsher physics and cathartics, Syrup Pepsin does not grip or cause discomfort, even to a tiny baby.

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1, the latter the family size. A free trial bottle can be had by sending your address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 480 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

POTATO WART

The picture above illustrates the new disease discovered to be affecting potatoes, principally in gardens in Pennsylvania. L. E. Yocum of the pathological department of the agricultural experiment station at State College was in Connelville yesterday laying the ground work for a survey of Fayette county to determine if any is to be found here. None has been reported. The disease does not often attack potatoes in open fields on the farms, but chiefly in gardens. If any is found it should be reported to the Fayette County Farm Bureau in Uniontown.

RAFFLE MISS FRICK'S DOG

Famous Canine Prize in Lottery For Jugo-Slav Fund.
Special to The Courier.

WENDEHAM, Mass., Aug. 11.—"Bill Boy," Miss Helen Frick's famous Belgian police dog, will be raffled at Canary Cottage on Wednesday to raise money for the starving children of Jugo-Slavia.

"Bill Boy" has seen service at the front, and received the Red Cross medal for bravery under shell fire. A great many of the summer folks at Wenham and Hamilton have envied Miss Frick her possession of the dog, and it is certain that it will bring a good price, doubtless several hundred dollars.

On Saturday Miss Frick will supervise another children's party. There will be animated dolls, ponies for the children to ride, slides, and all sorts of good things to eat.

A week from Wednesday there will be a mass meeting in Heriot's hall, Manchester, where the work of the Jugo-Slav committees will be explained and the plans for the winter's work outlined. The meeting, Miss Frick announced, will be in charge of the New York bureau, of which Mrs. F. H. Harriman is the chairman.

Asserts New Discovery Brings Blessed Relief To Rose and Hay Fever Sufferers

Can Make It Yourself At Home At Trifling Expense

In spite of all the doubters and scoffers, a man in Kentucky, who changed his annoying and distressing hay fever into less than a mild cold, claims most emphatically that it taken in time hay fever can be conquered or at least made so harmless that it is not even bothersome.

He gave his discovery to scores of other sufferers with the most remarkable results and has recently been prevailed upon to dispense it through pharmacists to all hay fever sufferers who still have faith that nature has provided an effective remedy for this common yet miserable disease. And best of all this remedy costs almost nothing. Get a one ounce bottle of Mentholized Arcline at any drug store, pour the contents into a pint bottle and fill the pint bottle with water that has been boiled.

Then gargle as directed and twice daily sniff or spray each nostril thoroughly.

That's all there is to it; so simple that a lot of people will say that it can't do the work; but oftentimes simple natural remedies are the best at you will find after using.

If you will make up a pint and use it for a week or ten days you need not be surprised if your unwelcome yearly neighbor fails to appear.

CHAPTER I.

The Last Round.

An oily seal—absolute stillness, save for the groan and creak of the yards and booms, as the bark rolled lifelessly on the long, shimmering swells. Not a breath of air; only a stifling heat that beat upon the decks until the pitch in the seams bubbled.

Only a waste of water that reflected the merciless tropic glare of the sun and hurt the eyes cruelly.

Under an awning in the stern a man in cotton shirt and trousers, who was huddled in a chair by the cabin skylight, lifted his head and mumbled through cracked lips.

"Twenty grains of calomel, twenty-four grains of quinine—magnesia, peppermint-water gone."

His hands fumbled with the drugs from the ship's medicine chest that strewed the skylight, and guessing at the quantities, carried portions to his mouth. He swallowed with difficulty, and relapsed into a huddled position.

After a little he raised his head once more, and began to count upon his fingers. One, two, three, four, five—was it five or eight days, or ten, or a month that the calm had lasted? He did not know. He had lost all track of time. But it worried him, and to his sick brain assumed very vital proportions. The ship's log would tell him.

He reached for it and began to scan the entries. It was strange that trying to read brought red flashes and pain to his eyes.

The words came only to him in snatches.

"October 10. Still becalmed. Intense heat. Native boatswain took sick this morning."

"October 11. Buried boatswain last night. Four more of crew down. We've got yellow fever aboard. God help us if we don't get a breeze!"

His eyes went on down the page in a haphazard, irresponsible way, slipping entries here and there unconsciously.

"Still becalmed. God have mercy on us! Native crew all down. Chinaman named Won Su, after making a murderous attack in his delirium on Wallen, the first mate, jumped overboard."

Yes, he remembered that. He was Wallen—Stacey Wallen—the first mate of the bark Upolo. It had been a horrible sight.

The poor devil had rushed at him screaming and—he shuddered a little—he did not want to think of that. What was this entry here?

"The heat is horrible. Survivors too weak to bury the dead. Captain Mitchell died at 2:10 a. m."

That was the last entry. There wasn't any date on it. He couldn't remember whether it had been yesterday or the day before. Well, what did it matter; and, anyway, it was time to make rounds.

Rounds!

What rounds were there to make? Everybody was dead. Johnson, the second mate, had died that morning, though he hadn't made the entry of Johnson's death in the log; what was the good? There wasn't any more use for a log. Everybody was dead except himself—the other two white men and the crew, who were all natives. And now he was down, too; he was only waiting for the fever to run its course.

That would take maybe a few hours more.

A voice within him seemed to keep whispering: "Rounds! You've got to make rounds, make rounds!" For two days or nights, or whenever it was, Stacey Johnson had first taken sick, he had made rounds incessantly with the medicines; that was why the medicines were on the skylight, so that he wouldn't have to go below.

But making rounds was over now; there was no one to make rounds for—there was only himself. "Rounds! Make rounds; it's time to make rounds!" the voice insisted.

He roused himself. Yes, that was so. Last time he had gone along the deck Ting Wah was still alive. The man would be dead now probably, and the medicines weren't any good, anyway; it was all, God's air, that was wanted. "Rounds! Make rounds!"

He staggered up from his chair, collected some drugs and, resting to the ship's side where the rail would help support him, made his way painfully forward to where another awning was stretched over the fore-deck. He kept his eyes in front of him; there were shapes about the deck covered with anything that had first come to hand—shapes that should not have been there only at the last Johnson and he had been too weak to do anything but throw coverings over them. He didn't want to look at the shapes.

There was one form, only one, that was uncovered, and he knelt beside it. Ting Wah was still alive.

"Medicine," said Wallen hoarsely. The Chinaman pushed it away.

"No can take," he answered weakly. "Me fash."

"Wallen steadied himself with an effort, and looked at the other closely.

It was near the end; but still, as under certain conditions it sometimes did, the disease had left the man's intelligence unimpaired.

"Look here, old chap," said Wallen cheerfully through his own cracked lips. "You never know. Buck up. Take the medicine." He stooped to lift the other's head gently, and nearly fell himself in doing it.

A sudden gleam of gratitude came into the Chinaman's eyes.

"You good man," he whispered. "You all same good man. But no can take—all same fash now." He pushed the medicine away again, and then plucked at Wallen's sleeve, evidently trying to get the mate's head down closer to his lips.

The man was going fast. Wallen tried to force a kindly smile.

"What is it?" he asked.

"Listen," said Ting Wah. "Mebby you die too. Mebbe no. All same me tell—you good man—last night bling medicine all night you good man—me tell."

His voice trailed off weakly.

"Yes!" prompted Wallen kindly.

The man tried to speak, tried again, but without avail.

Wallen's own head was reeling, premonitory of coming nausea.

"It's all right, Ting Wah. It's all right," he said soothingly. "Better not try to talk."

But now Ting Wah, with a desperate effort, raised himself to his elbow.

"Yes, me talk!" he gasped up. "But must talk quick. Me here, Won Su here, four more all same Chinamen come on board and make crew on ship here for all same knife crew!"

There was contortion in the man's face, a pitiful struggle to fight back the weakness and exhaustion that was upon him. Wallen stared at him in a dazed way.

"Kill me, Ting Wah!" he cried out. "What for? You—you don't know what you're saying, do you? You don't mean that!" The Chinaman's elbow was slipping gradually away from beneath him, his eyes were closed. The medicine spilled from Wallen's hands onto the deck, and he caught at the other, propping him up.

"Ting Wah! Ting Wah!" he cried again, shaking the man to rouse him. "What do you mean? Ting Wah, don't you hear me! What did you mean to kill me for?"

There was no answer. The man was—no, not yet! Ting Wah's lips were moving. Wallen bent his head still closer to catch the words.

"Drink-House Sam—Singapore—him know."

That was all. It was over now. Wallen straightened up unsteadily, and lurched to the rail where he could cling on to something.

Six Chinamen had shipped as part of the crew so that they could kill him. Why? He laughed in a sick fashion. What did it matter? They were all dead, these six—and every one else—and in a few hours he would be dead too. He laughed again, a little hysteria-terribly. This Drink-House Sam of Singapore, whoever he was, ought to be satisfied with that!

He claved his way back to the after-deck, and dropped into his chair again. His brain seemed to go numb for a time, to be indifferent to everything—and then suddenly to become strangely active. Six Chinamen had shipped as members of the crew so that they could kill him. It wasn't a pleasant thought, even if the whole six were dead now, and that he himself would be dead, too, before long.

Oh, yes, he believed it now, right enough—why shouldn't he? What about that murderous attack Won Su had made upon him, and that he had thought was delirium! But that wasn't all, he had reason beside that to believe Ting Wah's story; reason enough, God knew! now that he came to think of the things that were crowding into his mind.

Out of the shimmering heat waves that rose along the deck and seemed to hover so weirdly over those covered shapes that ought not to have been there, another scene gradually took form, at first indistinctly, vaguely, then in sharp outline, startling, distinct.

It was a stone house, a gray stone house, all by itself, without neighbors, isolated, a silent place. Yes, he remembered it! It seemed to bring a chill upon him now—the cold, dreary, lifeless house had done its best to crush even a laugh out of his boyhood with its eternal, silent brooding mystery. That was why he had run away ten years ago, when he was fourteen.

All his earlier recollections were of that place.

His mother wasn't there, he had never seen his mother. There were just his father, and that tall, swarthy

Eastern servant, who frightened his boy's heart—but those two—and himself. He never saw anyone else. No one ever came to the house. No one was ever admitted. Gunga, the servant, fetched the supplies from the nearby village. His own education was superintended by his father. But there had never been any intimacy between his father and himself.

He has never questioned his father but once—after that he had never dared to do so. He remembered the deadly whiteness that had come over the morose, taciturn face, the grip of iron upon his shoulder, the hoarse passion in his father's voice.

"Never speak to me again of that," his father had said. "When you are older, when the time comes, you shall know."

Wallen rocked unsteadily in his chair. What a frightful stretch the ship possessed—what it only his imagination! What was it he had been thinking of? Oh, yes, the six Chinamen who had come to kill him, and the gray house where there were so many bars and locks, and where every night his father and Gunga turned the keys and the chains rattled on the doors as they fastened them.

He raised his hands and passed it across his eyes in a startled way. How vividly it came back to him, that night—as though it were just happening now, as though he were in the very act of living it again!

A crash in the dead of night through that silent house, and he had sat up, trembling, in bed. Then a cry, the report of a pistol shot, and the echoes of the shot rumbled and reverberated through the house, striking terror into his young heart. And he was crawling out of his bed, and out into the hall and down the stairs in his nightgown.

And half-way down he stopped in horror.

Below, in the hallway, stood the giant form of his father, holding a candle, and on the floor lay stretched a huddled form, and Gunga, with a revolver, was bending over the thing that did not move. Then came his father's voice, in a strange, queer note of tense eagerness.

"Look again, Gunga. Has he one finger on the left hand?"

And Gunga had shaken his head as he had answered.

"I have looked, sahib, and the hand is whole."

Spellbound he had stood there on the stairs, a lad of fourteen, and Gunga had lifted the thing in his arms and gone away with it; and the great figure of his father, dressed in pajamas, had stood motionless for a long time, then turning had faced the stairs and caught sight of him—and suddenly had sent a wild, unnatural laugh ringing through the house.

"You there, eh, Stacey?" he had laughed out, as though unmannered. "Well, I'll tell you something now. Never go to the East. Remember that—never go to the East."

And then he had pulled himself together, and his face had set sternly as he had pointed up the stairs. "Go back to your bed!" he had commanded sharply. "Go back to your bed instantly!"

"Yes," said Wallen aloud to himself. "That's what he said: 'Never go to the East—never go to the East.'"

But he had come to the East and six Chinamen had shipped aboard the Upolo to kill him. His father had been quite right in telling him not to go to the East. How was it that he had come there? He had run away from that gray house after that night, and he had never heard of his father since.

That was in California.

He had gone to Frisco, and gone to sea. He had been at sea ever since in all kinds of ships, and he had done pretty well. He had his master's certificate already.

But that did not account for his being here in the Java sea, and for those six Chinamen. He had been fourth officer of the Tokomaru when they had touched at Shanghai a few weeks ago. She was a fine ship, the Tokomaru, the biggest passenger liner in the fleet—only a fourth officer's pay was very small.

He had met Captain Mitchell of the Upolo ashore there, and Captain Mitchell had persuaded him to ship as first mate on the Upolo for double the pay he had been getting. The Upolo, of course, traded through the Java and Banda seas—that was what his father had meant by the East—touching at Shanghai as a port of call in a liner wasn't the same thing.

How that sun burned through the awnings! It seemed to stab and drill into his skull with little shafts of exquisite pain. He could get away from it, of course, by going below into the cabin, by putting the deck between him and that torturing ball of fire, but in the cabin one couldn't breathe.

One couldn't live in the cabin—Captain Mitchell was there and Captain Mitchell was dead.

Had Captain Mitchell anything to do with those six Chinamen? Or anything to do with Drink-House Sam in Singapore? And where was it those six Chinamen had joined—at Shanghai like himself?

If he could remember that he would know whether Captain Mitchell had had a hand in the cursed game. Hadn't Johnson said something about new hands? But then native crews were everlastingly shifting about. It was a long way from Singapore to Shanghai.

Who was this Drink-House Sam? What was it Ting Wah had said? "Drink-House Sam—him know."

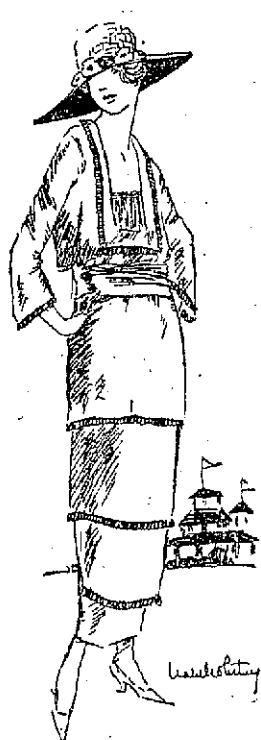

"Him know, him know, him know"—the words began to run through his mind in a singsong, crazy fashion—and then a passionate, merciless anger seized upon him, and the splendid six-foot bulk of the man heaved up from the chair, and, clenched fist raised, he swayed upon his feet.

They had got him! Not the way they had thought to get him—but they had got him. And he could not fight—there was no one to fight—he could only die like a trapped rat, while this Drink-House Sam laughed a thousand miles away!

A PROOF OF COLOR

If red is becoming to one, deep victory red, this frock of tulle and lace will lend a spot of joyful color to the landscape. There are fringes made of loops to finish most of the edges, and an organza vest, tucked finely and deep blue in color to fill in the very low cut neck. Her hat is a yellow straw be-floored with poppies and faced with blue.

BLUBBER A DELICIOUS VIAND

Said to Be of Immensely Pleasant Taste, When Eaten Raw From the Seal.

It has always been a mystery to me why the word "blubber" should carry such a disagreeable connotation to millions of people, though not one in a million has ever tasted it, writes Vilhjalmur Stefansson in Harper's.

I am often asked what seal meat tastes like and am driven to saying that it tastes like seal meat, for it does not resemble any commonly known type of meat. But neither does mutton resemble any meat known to me, and still mutton is good eating, and so is seal. But the fat is much easier to describe. When the blubber is eaten raw, as we commonly eat it by preference, it has a flavor very similar to that of fresh cow's cream, but when boiled it closely resembles the fat of mutton. For that reason Mr. Wilkies, who came from the sheep district of Australia, was that member of our whole expedition who most readily fell into the eating of the seal fat.

In general most men refrain from eating blubber because it is named blubber, until they become so fat hungry that they are eventually driven to trying it, and when they try it, to their surprise they invariably find it so delicious that they are restrained, they overeat and, as is well known, overeating any form of fat causes nausea and other distressing symptoms. After one or two experiences of this sort I am now careful never to allow a man to eat all the blubber he wants the first time he tries it, for if he gets sick he is almost certain to blame the seal and not his own gluttony.

Was Big Railroad Project.

The summer brings the semi-annual of the opening of the Mt. Washington railway, which, 50 years ago, distinguished the White mountain region of New England by making it the location for the first important mountain railroad in the country. Remarkable railroading to high altitudes has since been accomplished, but the climb of some 6,200 feet to the summit of the highest of the White mountains was then regarded almost as an achievement of the impossible. And it did, for that matter, immediately make Mt. Washington possible to many a tourist who would have spent his life at the bottom rather than try then to climb to the top on foot.

Tribute to Partridge.

A wonderful old man is Mr. James Nicol, who has just celebrated his one hundredth birthday in the Kentish village where he lives, and is still going strong. Mr. Nicol, who is a Scot, was born in Tullibody, Clackmannanshire, and joined the Seventy-fourth Highlanders during the reign of William IV, later taking part in suppressing the Indian mutiny. He can do the Highland fling even yet, he says, and claims that the recipe for long life is porridge when one is young. He did not know the taste of meat or tea till he was over seven-teen. Mr. Nicol married his second wife when he was ninety-three.

Not Her Henny.

I was expecting a call by the telephone from my wife at eleven o'clock one morning. Exactly at that hour my bell jingled, and, taking down the receiver, I said: "Hello!"

The response came: "Is that you, Willie?"

"This is your honey, sweetheart," was my reply.

In icy tones came: "You've got your nerve. Wait till I see your wife."

Bang went the receiver.

I recognized the voice as that of my wife's chum—Chicago Tribune.

Lithuanian Exports.

Lithuania is shaking off the grip of German economic control. First of its products to be freed will be its lumber, which Germany controlled to her own great profit.

Lithuania exported about 300,000,000 cubic feet of timber annually through the port of Memel by the River Neuman. Germany's control of the Neuman river has been ended.

Lithuania will therefore come forward as a world trader as soon as her independence is recognized. She is already planning the purchase of metal, machinery and foodstuffs in America.

NEVADA AS "GOLDEN STATE"

From Reports, It Is Not at All Improbable She May Become Thus Known.

When they began to dig out silver by the ton from the Comstock group of mines, Nevada lost its original name of "the Sagebrush State," and became known to the whole world as the "Silver State."

But recent developments in the Di-ville district seem to indicate another change of name, for they do say that the gold is so thick just a little under the surface that the owners of the mines refuse to dig lest they be ruined by the excess profit tax. They just take out a shovelful from time to time to pay living expenses, and sit tight over the hole where they took it out till they need a little more.

Possibly, also, these mine owners are influenced by patriotism, as not wishing to disturb values by flooding the world with gold and thus adding to the economic confusion. California has hitherto taken pride in calling itself the Golden state, but even in Nevada they are getting ready to demand the belt and title and say they are going to get it.

And with all due allowance for new-born enthusiasm and for the picturesque way in which prosperous miners are wont to express themselves, if a touch of what is claimed is true—and it may be—we may expect the people of Nevada to change from the most loyal of silverites to the most determined and irreconcilable gold bugs. Circumstances do not favor cases. That they have found a lot of gold is certain.—Sioux Falls Press.

WHEN AVIATION WAS NEW

Benjamin Franklin Evidently Had Expectations of Its Value, Though Venturing No Predictions.

Somebody has been quite naturally reminded, by events in the air, of what Benjamin Franklin said to Congress about aeroplanes 130 years ago, in Paris. The French capital was just then much interested in the balloon ascensions of the Montgolfier brothers, perhaps even more excited, on the similar scale of the times, than modern cities over the actual crossing of the Atlantic, and whenever men came together the future possibilities of ballooning made an immediate topic of conversation. Conductor, meeting Franklin, asked him if he thought an aeronaut would ever be able to steer his balloon.

"The thing is in its infancy," said Franklin. "It is necessary to wait." "But what is the good of it?" demanded a laughing Thomas. "What useful purpose will it serve?" "Contentment," replied Franklin. "It is a child just born; let us wait to judge it until its education is completed." And even now the education is far from finished.

NEED NOT TRANSFER GERMS

Disease Will Not Be Transmitted if Soiled Hands Are Kept Away From Mouth.

It is glaringly obvious that the biting of finger nails, the moistening of fingers in turning the pages of a book, and similar half-conscious acts greatly enhance the opportunities for planting undesirable germs where they can multiply," says the Journal of the American Medical Association. "On the average they may be harmless; transferred to the mouth they have a wide field for development."

"The soiling of the hands is impossible to avoid altogether, but the soot-lowing of germs from one's own soiled hands is largely under individual control."

"It may fairly be assumed that the most useful safeguards against this form of disease transmission are to be found in such practices as hand washing and in refraining from using the tongue or the lips as a moistening pad, rather than in hysterical attempts at avoidance of all hand contamination. Children are best protected through the inculcation of similar desirable habits at an early age. In a word, some degree of hand-contamination is unavoidable; but the transference of the contaminating germs to the mouth is largely under individual control and is subject to the powerful influence of early-formed habit."

Making Rounds Was Over Now.

cept himself—the other two white men and the crew, who were all natives. And now he was down, too; he was only waiting for the fever to run its course.

That would take maybe a few hours more.

A voice within him seemed to keep whispering: "Rounds! You've got to make rounds, make rounds!" For two days or nights, or whenever it was, Stacey Johnson had first taken sick, he had made rounds incessantly with the medicines; that was why the medicines were on the skylight, so that he wouldn't have to go below.

But making rounds was over now; there was no one to make rounds for—there was only himself. "Rounds! Make rounds; it's time to make rounds!" the voice insisted.

He roused himself. Yes, that was so. Last time he had gone along the deck Ting Wah was still alive. The man would be dead now probably, and the medicines weren't any good, anyway; it was all, God's air, that was wanted. "Rounds! Make rounds!"

He staggered up from his chair, collected some drugs and, resting to the ship's side where the rail would help support him, made his way painfully forward to where another awning was stretched over the fore-deck. He kept his eyes in front of him; there were shapes about the deck covered with anything that had first come to hand—shapes that should not have been there only at the last Johnson and he had been too weak to do anything but throw coverings over them. He didn't want to look at the shapes.

There was one form, only one, that was uncovered, and he knelt beside it. Ting Wah was still alive.

"Medicine," said Wallen hoarsely. The Chinaman pushed it away.

"No can take," he answered weakly. "Me fash."

"Wallen steadied himself with an effort, and looked at the other closely.

TREASURY SAVING BONDS FINE SHORT TIME INVESTMENT

Bear Four Per Cent Interest and Can Be Redeemed in 10 Days.

$1,000 TO ONE PERSON

Idea Is to Give Small Investor An Opportunity to Buy Government Security at Good Rate of Interest and Prevent Loss by Registry.

A vigorous effort will be made by the United States government through James Francis Burke, state director of government savings, to interest every investor in Western Pennsylvania in the new Treasury Savings Certificates, which are being issued through first and second class post-offices, banks and trust companies which are authorized agents for the sale of War Savings Certificates. The new certificates are registered and are issued in denominations of $100 and $1,000, and will sell during August for $88.80 and $838. This is the first time in the history of the United States government that it has issued a high grade short term bond bearing 4 per cent interest compounded quarterly that can be redeemed at any time upon 10 days notice at the purchase price plus interest.

This makes the Treasury Savings Certificates a magnificent investment for churches, lodges, estates and associations that desire an undisputed security for funds which they desire to retain in liquid form. Treasury savings certificates in denominations of $100 maturity value may be purchased at postoffices of the first and second class and such other postoffices as the postmaster general may from time to time designate for that purpose. Treasury savings certificates in denominations of $100 and $1,000 maturity value may be purchased at incorporated banks and trust companies which are agents of the second class for the sale of war savings certificates, series of $100, and qualified to obtain certificates to the amount of $1,000 maturity value or more.

The issue of the treasury savings certificates is limited to $4,000,000,000 and the demand has been so great that it will be necessary for investors of Western Pennsylvania to make their purchases early. Many church organizations have reported that they will pay their contributions to the congregation in the new certificates and a number of judges and societies in Pittsburgh have purchased them for investment funds through their trustees and directors, as the amount any organization or individual can buy is limited to $1,000. The idea is to give the small investor an opportunity to buy a government security at a good rate of interest and prevent any danger from loss by having the certificates registered. At the same time it is made redeemable at any time upon 10 days' notice at the purchase price plus the interest that has accrued. As in the case of war savings stamps, the value increases each month until the date of maturity, January 1, 1921.

Treasury savings certificates are exempt both as to principal and interest from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States, any state or any of the possessions of the United States, or by any local taxing authority, except estate or inheritance taxes and graduated additional income taxes commonly known as surtaxes, and excess profits and war profits taxes, now or hereafter imposed by the United States, upon the income or profits of individuals, partnerships, associations or corporations.

HOW FAT FOLKS MAY BECOME THIN

If you are suddenly becoming stout, or if you have been putting on flesh for years, the cause is generally the same—lack of oxygen carrying power of the blood. This trouble occurs mostly in men and women over thirty, but it may be easily treated and without any of the privations most fat people imagine necessary to reduce their weight. Simply go to your druggist and get a box of Phynola. Take five grains after each meal and at bedtime. Wonderful results should be quickly accomplished by this simple treatment. Be sure however you get the genuine Phynola. It is put up in original sealed packages, is pleasant to take, and gives prompt results. C. Roy Hetzel, Laughey Drug Co., A. A. Clarke, can supply you—Atty.

To Remove Ink Stains.

Ink can be taken from white goods with tomatoes if applied freely. Cold milk is good when the stains are fresh, changing the milk as often as necessary. Fresh butter is even a better solvent.

If very obstinate and the material will stand hot water, the stain should be covered with melted tallow, then washed in the usual way.

Oxalic acid will remove any very obstinate stains, but can be used only on white goods, as it will destroy the color. The crystals are dissolved in boiling water and the liquid is applied to the stain. A thorough rinsing in clear water afterward is imperative.

Another Method.

In drying and cleaning shops ether is used almost exclusively for removing ink from fabrics. It is a powerful cleansing agent, but will destroy materials unless they are well rinsed. Ether will remove perspiration stains, but should be mixed with ammonia and water. One-fourth ether, one-fourth ammonia and one-half water is a good mixture. Rinse and place in the sun.

A bottle of cologne is a most useful article, for it will take away smears if rubbed on as soon as they appear. It can be used alike on white or colored fabrics, cotton or woolen, without the slightest injury.

Ice cream makes a very bad stain because it has both grease and sugar in its make-up. To remove stains of it from silk, sponge the stained parts with gasoline or chloroform, placing a pad of absorbent cotton or blotting paper under the spots. When dry, sponge with tepid water and a good soap, and then rub with a flannel cloth until dry. This work must be done away from the fire or artificial light. Use plain strong coffee to remove the stains of tea cream or milk from black clothing. Dip a cloth in the coffee and rub it over the spot. If the coffee is applied as soon as the stain has been made, so much the better.

Umbrellas Are Fancy.

The umbrella manufacturers have found a welcome demand in the business supplied by fancy makers. The colored silks and matched handles and tips have proved quite popular with buyers, who not only placed appreciative orders for such goods when they bought but have put in a good duplicate business. The manufacturers have so fashioned their product now that they have made umbrellas a dress accessory, and this has done more than anything else, it is said, to encourage sales.

Chenille Embroidery.

Embroidery in chenille in matching tone is used on black and beige costumes, and the chenille matches the material. Sometimes on black satin or taffeta frocks the embroideries take their pattern from lace, Alencon or Chantilly. English embroidery on taffeta is a new trimming detail this season. This is especially noted on garden frocks.

Uses for Ribbon.

For dress trimming purposes, girdles, fringes, tassels and spangles are in favor. Wide plain ribbons are in demand for sashes.

Dickerson Run.

DICKERSON RUN, Aug. 11.—The American Federation of Railroad Workers are having their annual outing Saturday, August 30, which will be held at Idora park, Youngstown, Ohio. Seven special trains have already been engaged and arrangements completed to handle 6,000 persons. The fare for the round trip from Connelville will be 25 cents. Children under 12 years of age will be allowed free transportation. The train will leave the P. & L. E. depot at Connelville at 9:20 A. M., just five minutes ahead of the regular train, and will stop at Dickerson Run and West Newton.

The Buena Vista baseball team lost their first game of the season Friday afternoon when they met the Y. M. C. A. sluggers here. The final score was 9-7. The features of the game was the pitching of Tumble Randolph for the "Y" team, he having 17 strikeouts.

Jeff Meats, night watchman for Reagan & Lynch, is having all kinds of trouble with a pack of hounds chasing a fox every few nights. Saturday night the chase led across the highway where the concrete had just been put down. Not being sufficiently hardened to bear their weight, the hounds and reynard cut it up so bad it was necessary to re-surface it. Jeff says he don't like to do it, but if nothing else will do he may have to go gunning after the dogs.

The writer has, under a glass cover, a curiosity in the way of a queer worm, evidently of the lepidopterous family. No one who has examined it has yet been able to classify it. It is, when in repose, about an inch in length, but can extend itself to nearly three inches. It is brown in color, the head resembling nothing so much as it does the head of a bulldog. A ring of a lighter color than the body encircles the neck. Will be pleased to turn it over to some professor in bugology for classification.

SUNDAY BASEBALL

At Fairhope to be Settled by a Public Debate of the Question.

Rev. A. F. Fulton, pastor of the Marion Mission at Fairhope a mining center near Fayette City, is opposed to Sunday ball games, and, having a large number of boys and young men in his community who contemplate playing on Sunday, Mr. Fulton demonstrated. A friendly discussion resulted, which ended by both the pastor and player agreeing to appoint an umpire and hold a public meeting, where the good and evil of Sunday baseball will be thoroughly discussed.

The umpire will decide whether or not, according to the points made by those taking part in the discussion, Sunday baseball should be encouraged.

The proposition, as agreed to by both sides, is binding on both to abide by the umpire's decision. If the decision is in favor of Sunday ball, then games are to be played on that day without attempt at interference by the minister. If the decision is against Sunday baseball, then the players are to abandon their plan. The umpire will be selected from a non-sectarian and impartial viewpoint.

MADE BY SCOTT & BOWNE
MAKERS OF SCOTT'S EMULSION

Just what will happen next to sports clothes is a fascinating subject for speculation. The new waves in silk have intrigued them into beautiful extravagance, and other unusual fabrics have lent them originality. All sorts of materials, from leather to crinoid flannel with a company of strictly woollens forming their main dependence, invite designers to become independent. Cleverness is at a premium, nothing is considered erratic and there are sports clothes and sports clothes; some of them for actual sports wear and some of them merely versions of sport styles.

For actual sports wear, coats and skirts of wool, or heavy cotton, are plain and cut on boyish lines. Skirts wide enough and patch pockets big enough are their sensible outstanding features. The sweater and sweater-coat in greater variety than ever, reappears, entitled to more service stripes than any other garment. One of the new, short slip-on models occupies the center in the group of three sports costumes pictured here. This is a very popular model and is made in many gay and brilliant colors. At the left of the picture a very
